Such information may be put by delegates on notice boards, including the electronic bulletin board. The Council's email system may be used for circulating messages in these instances, on a selective basis to union members only.
- f) Authorised Union Industrial Officers will have access to meeting rooms in the Council buildings to undertake meetings, investigate concerns or interview members in accordance with Section 352 of the Act.

- g) Where an official union meeting is called during work time, providing there is minimal disruption to normal “day to day” operation, and providing adequate notice to the Chief Executive Officer is given, then that time shall be considered paid time. The Union Industrial Officers shall advise Council in advance of their visit to the Workplace.

8.6 Equal Employment Opportunity

- a) The parties recognise the importance of maintaining diversity in the workplace. It is agreed that practices that encourage equality of employment and development opportunities will continue and will be promoted during the life of this Agreement.

This will include:

- (i) Reviewing position descriptions, prior to advertisement, to ensure non-bias language.
 - (ii) Inclusion of statements during recruitment that Council is an equal opportunity employer.
 - (iii) Ensuring selection of applicants for vacant positions is conducted in accordance with the law.
 - (iv) Giving appropriate and meaningful consideration of workplace flexibility and/or adjustment requests.
 - (v) Ensuring approval of development opportunities is managed in a fair and equitable manner, irrespective of gender or any other identified attribute under the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991.
- b) Council is committed to equal remuneration for work of equal or comparable value.

9 Part 9: Dispute resolution

9.1 Prevention and settlement of disputes - Award matter

- a) The objectives of this procedure are the avoidance and resolution of any disputes over matters covered by the relevant Award by measures based on the provision of information and explanation, consultation, co-operation, and negotiation.
- b) Subject to Legislation, while the dispute procedure is being followed normal work is to continue except in the case of a genuine safety issue. The status quo existing before the emergence of a dispute is to continue whilst the procedure is being followed. No party shall be prejudiced as to the final settlement by the continuation of work.
- c) In the event of any disagreement between the parties as to the interpretation or implementation of the relevant Award, the following procedures shall apply:
 - (i) the matter is to be discussed by the Employee’s union representative and/or the Employee(s) concerned (where appropriate) and the immediate supervisor in the first instance. The discussion should take place within 24 hours and the procedure should not extend beyond seven (7) days.

- (ii) if the matter is not resolved it shall be referred by the union representative and/or the Employee(s) to the appropriate management representative who shall arrange a conference of the relevant parties to discuss the matter. This process should not extend beyond seven (7) days.
 - (iii) if the matter remains unresolved it may be referred to Council for discussion and appropriate action. This process should not exceed 14 days.
 - (iv) if the matter is not resolved then it may be referred by either party to the Commission.
- d) Nothing contained in this procedure shall prevent unions or Council from intervening in respect of matters in dispute should such action be considered conducive to achieving resolution.

9.2 Prevention and settlement of disputes - other than Award matters

- a) The objectives of the procedure are to promote the prompt resolution of grievances by consultation, co-operation, and discussion to reduce the level of disputation and to promote efficiency, effectiveness, and equity in the workplace.
- b) The following procedure applies to all industrial matters within the mean of the Act:

Stage 1: In the first instance the Employee shall inform such Employee's immediate Supervisor of the existence of the grievance, and they shall attempt to resolve the grievance. It is recognised that an Employee may exercise the right to consult such Employee's union representative during Stage 1.

Stage 2: If the grievance remains unresolved, the Employee shall refer the grievance to the next in line management ("the Manager"). The Manager will consult with the relevant parties. The Employee may exercise the right to consult or be represented by such Employee's representative during Stage 2.

Stage 3: If the grievance is still unresolved, the Manager will advise Council and the aggrieved Employee may submit the matter in writing to Council if such Employee wishes to pursue the matter further. If desired by either party the matter may also be notified to the relevant union.

- c) Council shall ensure that:
- (i) the aggrieved Employee or such Employee's union representative has the opportunity to present all aspects of the grievance; and
 - (ii) the grievance shall be investigated in a thorough, fair and impartial manner.
- d) Council may appoint another person to investigate the grievance or dispute. Council may consult with the employee representative in appointing an investigator. The appointed person shall be other than the Employee's supervisor or manager.
- e) If the matter is notified to the union, the investigator shall also consult with the union during the investigation. Council shall advise the Employee initiating the grievance, the Employee's union representative and any other Employee directly concerned of the determinations made as a result of the investigation of the grievance.

- f) The procedure is to be completed in accordance with the following time frames unless the parties agree otherwise:

Stage 1: Discussions should take place between the Employee and such Employee's supervisor within 24 hours and the procedure shall not extend beyond seven (7) days.

Stage 2: Not to exceed seven (7) days.

Stage 3: Not to exceed 14 days.

- g) If the grievance or dispute is not settled the matter may be referred to the Commission by the Employee or the union.
- h) Subject to Legislation, while the grievance procedure is being followed normal work is to continue except in the case of a genuine safety issue. The status quo existing before the emergence of a grievance or dispute is to continue while the procedure is being followed. No party shall be prejudiced as to the final settlement by the continuation of work.
- i) Where the grievance involves allegations of sexual harassment an Employee should commence the procedure at Stage 3.

10 Part 10: Redeployment and Redundancy

The parties agree and are committed to job security. In the event of any restructure or changes to any work area which will reduce net human resource requirements, Employees and unions shall be consulted in accordance with Clause 1.10.

10.1 Managing Organisational Change

- a) The objective of this Part is to specify best practice strategies for managing Employee issues arising from organisational change. These strategies reflect the Council's preferred position of retaining its Employees and ensuring that effective measures, such as redeployment and retraining, exist to achieve this goal.
- b) Organisational change is an inevitable consequence of the Council continuing to meet the needs and expectations of the community. Changes should be planned and take into account resource implications, particularly those related to Employees. No matter how small the organisational change, the likely consequences, including the financial and human cost of each change, should be considered. Under this Part, the Council must deal fairly and objectively with Employees affected by organisational change in order to minimise any disruption and distress caused to Employees.
- c) The Chief Executive Officer is responsible for ensuring compliance with the provisions of this clause.

10.1.1 Application

This Clause applies to all Employees except for:

- a) Employees engaged for a specific period of time, for a specific project/s where the finishing date is specified at the commencement of Employment and not extended for any reason other than to complete specific project/s.
- b) Casual Employees.
- c) Employees engaged on a contractual basis which includes severance benefits.
- d) Employees whose employment is terminated pursuant to disciplinary action.
- e) Employees within their initial probation period following appointment to the Council.

10.2 Planning Change in the event of Redundancy

- a) Where Consultation has occurred in accordance with Clause 1.10 and may result in organisational change where one (1) or more positions are identified as redundant because:
 - (i) The duties and functions of the position are no longer required.
 - (ii) The duties of the position should logically be incorporated with those of another position.
 - (iii) The duties and functions of the position are required to be relocated because of decentralisation or regionalisation of functions; or
 - (iv) An upgrading or downgrading of the functions and responsibilities of the position is necessary.
- b) The Council will develop a plan to manage and identify employment options for Employees in positions that will become redundant.
- c) Where planned organisational change is likely to result in positions becoming redundant, the Council will provide all relevant details to, and arrange discussions with, the relevant Unions as soon as reasonably practical and before a final decision in respect of that change is made.

10.3 Managing Employees

- a) When undertaking organisational change, there are several factors that must be considered for the process to be managed efficiently.
- b) For the outcome of organisational change to be effective, an assessment of the employment consequences of the change is required. This assessment must be undertaken to determine the following:
 - (i) Current and proposed Employee numbers.
 - (ii) Current skills possessed by Employees and skills required in the proposed organisational structure.

- (iii) Current location of Employees and the location of Employees in the proposed organisational structure.
 - (iv) Current roles of Employees and the required roles of Employees in the new organisational structure.
 - (v) Estimated costs of the employment changes.
 - (vi) Analysis and identification of the functions that may cease to be performed as a result.
 - (vii) The effect on Employees of a change in emphasis or reprioritising of functions.
- c) If this assessment results in disparity between existing positions and those required to ensure organisational cost effectiveness and efficiency, then affected Employees must be treated fairly and with empathy.

10.4 Steps to Managing Change

If an Employee becomes surplus to organisational requirements following an organisational change the Council will develop, in consultation with the affected Employee and their union representative if required, a plan to manage the outcome of these changes in accordance with the following steps.

10.4.1 Redesignation

- a) In the first instance when an organisational change occurs, the Council will (where possible) redesignate “like” positions into the new organisational structure.
- b) The term “redesignation” refers to a change of the title of a position when the duties of the position are not substantially changed, and the classification level remains the same. The process of redesignation enables the Employee who held the position, prior to it being redesignated, to be directly appointed to the redesignated position in the new organisational structure.

10.4.2 Reskilling/Retraining

- a) Within four (4) weeks after the Chief Executive Officer notifies an Employee that the Employee’s position has been made redundant, an analysis of the Employee’s skills, knowledge and abilities will be performed.
- b) This analysis will be used to assist the organisation and the Employee determine appropriate positions in the organisation which would offer the highest likelihood of success in redeployment.
- c) Where it is agreed that an affected Employee may reasonably be able to increase or change their skill level in a particular identified area and this would likely result in a successful redeployment, an agreed training plan will be implemented using either internal or external training resources.

10.4.3 Redeployment

- a) The Council, with the cooperation of the Employee, will seek to redeploy Employees to an appropriate vacancy within six (6) months after the date a position is identified as redundant. After six (6) months, the redeployment process will be reviewed by the Chief Executive Officer. If redeployment is unsuccessful in the sense that a suitable position cannot be found for an Employee, retrenchment can occur.
- b) Where practical, Employees should be given meaningful work until the redeployment process is completed.
- c) Prior to initiating any recruitment activity, the Chief Executive Officer should be satisfied that there are no Employees awaiting redeployment who would be suitable to fill the vacancy.
- d) Where a number of Employees are being considered for redeployment to a single position, their suitability for the position will be assessed and selection made on the basis of relative merit.
- e) Redeployment to a lower-level position:
 - (i) If a position classified at the same level as the Employee who is surplus to the organisation's requirements is not available within the organisation, the Employee may, by agreement, be appointed to a position classified at a lower level.
 - (ii) If such an appointment occurs, the Employee's salary must be maintained at the Employee's current pay increment for a period of 12 months from the date of the appointment. No further increments are to be paid during this 12-month salary maintenance period. After the 12-month salary maintenance period, the Employee will be paid at the highest pay increment of the lower classification level to which they are appointed.
 - (iii) During the 12-month salary maintenance period, an Employee should, where reasonable, be provided with training as determined by a skills analysis, to improve the Employee's ability to perform effectively in their redeployment position.

10.4.4 Appointment through Merit Selection

- a) All positions in the new organisational structure that cannot be filled by redesignation or redeployment must be advertised and filled on merit-based selection, which is an assessment of an applicant's abilities, skills, experience, qualifications and potential relative to those of other applicants measured against selection criteria set down in the position description. An equitable recruitment and merit-based selection process involves a range of activities designed to ensure:
 - (i) Fair and open competition.
 - (ii) A systematic and consistent process.
 - (iii) Selection criteria that reflect the actual and realistic requirements of the position.
 - (iv) Processes that do not unfairly discriminate at any stage.

- (v) Members of the selection panels are skilled and impartial.

10.4.5 Retrenchment

- a) If an Employee whose employment is surplus to organisational requirements cannot be redeployed, the Chief Executive Officer may proceed with the retrenchment of the Employee.
- b) Retrenchment should only occur after all other options provided for in this Clause have been considered.

10.5 Voluntary Redundancy Scheme

- a) The Chief Executive Officer may invite expressions of interest to participate in a voluntary redundancy scheme from individual Employees or groups of Employees.
- b) Invitations for expressions of interest should be open for acceptance for a period of two (2) weeks. An expression of interest is not binding on the Employee prior to acceptance by the Chief Executive Officer. Invitations for expressions of interest are not binding on the Council which may withdraw invitations for expressions of interest or determine not to proceed with a voluntary redundancy scheme at any time.
- c) The Chief Executive Officer may refuse individual expressions of interest if the Chief Executive Officer determines it would be detrimental to the organisation to accept the expression of interest.
- d) If a voluntary redundancy is accepted an Employee will be entitled to the redundancy entitlements in Clause 10.6.

10.6 Redundancy Package

- a) Subject to Clause 10.7, where an Employee is retrenched in accordance with Clause 10.4.5 or participates in a voluntary redundancy scheme in accordance with Clause 10.5, they will be paid the following entitlements (redundancy package):
- b) leave entitlements being:
 - (i) Accrued annual leave; and
 - (ii) Accrued long service leave for Employees continuously employed by the Council for at least three (3) years, based on 1.3 weeks for each year of continuous service and a proportionate amount for an incomplete year of service.
- c) severance benefits being:
 - (i) (2.5) weeks per year of service and a proportionate amount for an incomplete year of service (maximum 52 weeks); or
 - (ii) (3.5) weeks per year of service and a proportionate amount for an incomplete year of service (maximum 52 weeks) for Employees aged 50 years or over who have accrued 10 years continuous service with the Council.

- d) An additional incentive payment equivalent to six (6) weeks' salary will be provided if an expression of interest to participate in a voluntary redundancy scheme is made in accordance with Clause 10.5, and not refused, within two (2) weeks after the invitation date. The redundancy will take effect immediately after that two (2) week period expires.
- e) Employees whose employment is terminated pursuant to a redundancy may not be employed by the Council in any capacity for a period equal to the total number of weeks' severance and incentive benefit received by the Employee under the redundancy package.
- f) Employees will not be entitled to a redundancy package where they have been offered a redesignation or redeployment into a suitable alternative role e.g., at the same classification level, in accordance with Clause 10.4.3.

10.7 Transmission of Business

In this Clause:

another employer means any other employer and includes another local government, the Queensland State Government, and a national system employer.

Business means trade, process, business, or occupation and includes a part or subsidiary (which means a corporation that would be taken to be a subsidiary under the Corporations Law, whether or not the Corporations Law applies in the particular case) of any such business.

national system employer has the same meaning as in the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth).

transmitted means transfer, conveyance, assignment, or succession whether by agreement or by operation of law.

An Employee shall not receive a redundancy package under Clause 10.6 where a business is transmitted from the Council to another employer in any of the following circumstances:

- a) where an Employee agrees to acceptable employment with another employer who recognises the period of continuous service the Employee has with Council; or
- b) where an Employee rejects an offer of employment with another employer in which the continuity of service is recognised and the terms and conditions applicable to the Employee are considered substantially similar on an overall basis.

Where the circumstances in (ii) above applies, redundancy pay will be determined in accordance with the QES.
