- (a) Facilitative provisions can be negotiated between management and employees who are directly affected by such proposals or between management and the union depending on the particular provisions.

Stage 2: If the grievance remains unresolved, the employee shall refer the grievance to the next in line management ("the manager"). The manager will consult with the relevant parties. The employee may exercise the right to consult or be represented by such employee's union representative during the course of Stage 2.

The employer is also committed to providing stability to its employees by limiting organisational restructuring and contracting out of services as outlined in clause 45.

11.2 Employer's duty to notify

- (a) Where the employer decides to introduce changes in production, program, organisation, structure or technology that are likely to have significant effects on employees, the employer shall notify the employees who may be affected by the proposed changes and, where relevant, their union/s.
- (b) 'Significant effects' includes termination of employment; major changes in the composition, operation or size of the employer's workforce or in the skills required; the elimination or diminution of job opportunities or job tenure; the alteration of hours of work; the need for retraining or transfer of employees to other work or locations and the restructuring of jobs.

11.3 Employer's duty to consult over change

- (a) The employer shall consult the employees affected and, where relevant, their union/s about the introduction of the changes, the effects the changes are likely to have on employees (including the number and categories of employees likely to be dismissed, and the time when, or the period over which, the employer intends to carry out the dismissals) and ways to avoid or minimise the effects of the changes (e.g. by finding alternate employment).
- (b) The employer will properly consult with employees and the relevant employee organisations before making and implementing a final decision.
- (c) For the purpose of such consultation the employer shall provide in writing to the employees concerned and, where relevant, their union/s, all relevant information about the changes including the nature of the changes proposed, the expected effects of the changes on employees, and any other matters likely to affect employees.
- (d) Notwithstanding the provision of clause 11.3 (c) the employer shall not be required to disclose confidential information, the disclosure of which would be adverse to the employer's interests.

Schedule 3: Translation Arrangements to the new classification structure

Background

The City Parklands Classification Structure referred to in clause 20 and outlined in Schedule 1 was adopted through the 2016 Award modernisation process and approved by the Full Bench of the Queensland Industrial Relations Commission.

It is a single structure that was developed specifically for the work at South Bank Parklands and through the Award modernisation process it was adopted for all employees at both parklands as it was considered the roles at Roma Street Parkland do not substantially differ to those at South Bank Parklands.

Translation process

All employees who are not already on the classification structure will translate from the date this Agreement is certified.

Allocation to a classification and to a level within that classification is undertaken in accordance with the process in clause 20.1 of this agreement using the generic classification descriptors contained in Schedule 1.

When translating to the new classification structure there are three scenarios that will occur, depending on individual circumstances:

- (a) the translation level is equal to the employee's current rate of pay, and so there is no change
- (b) the employee translates to a new level that is greater than their current rate of pay, and so will be paid at the rate prescribed for that level – they will receive an increase in their pay
- (c) the employee translates to a new level where the pay rate is less than their current rate of pay. The current salary amount will be protected (meaning it will remain as is) with a market adjustment payment (MAP).

City Parklands is protecting the salary level of all translating staff. No existing employees will suffer a reduction in their current rate of pay as a result of the above transition.

Each individual will be provided with details that are specific to them.

“Market Adjustment Payment” (MAP)

A “Market Adjustment Payment” (MAP) is an amount paid in addition to the transitioned classification level pay rate so that the employee is not disadvantaged by moving onto the City Parklands classification structure.

EBA pay rises in future years will apply to both the City Parklands classification rate of pay as well as the MAP component.

The MAP is taken into consideration for leave loading and superannuation purposes, as well as for calculating overtime and penalty rates.

Translation outcome

While the translation outcome to a classification and level for most roles will be consistent with other established levels there are some individual roles where the outcome is not understood or is not agreed.

In these situations the employee should initially discuss the matter with their manager, and if still a concern, then with the Human Resources Manager.

The HR Manager will consider with the matter in accordance with clause 20.1. The HR Manager will use the classification descriptors and the internal relativities of other positions to determine the degree of complexity and responsibility of duties, skills and knowledge to confirm the classification level.

The outcome will be approved by the Chief Executive Officer City Parklands.

In accordance with clause 20.1 (b) where an employee is still unsatisfied with the outcome the employee, and where requested, their representative, may have the matter dealt with in accordance with clause 10, Prevention and Settling Disputes.

Schedule 5: Redundancy

1 Redundancy pay

Where City Parkland's declares an employee's position redundant the employee shall be paid two weeks' pay for each completed year of service, capped at 52 week.

"Weeks' Pay" means the ordinary time rate of pay for the employee concerned.

The following are excluded from the calculation of the ordinary time rate of pay: overtime, penalty rates, disability allowances, shift allowances, special rates, fares and travelling time allowances, bonuses and any other ancillary payments.

2 Consultation before termination

- (a) Where the employer decides that the employer no longer wishes the job the employee/s has been doing to be done by anyone, and this is not due to the ordinary and customary turnover of labour, and that decision may lead to termination of employment, the employer shall consult the employee/s directly affected and, where relevant, their union or unions.
- (b) The consultation shall take place as soon as it is practicable after the employer has made a decision, which will invoke the provisions of clause 2(a) and shall cover the reasons for the proposed terminations, measures to avoid or minimise the terminations and/or their adverse effects on the employee/s concerned.
- (c) For the purpose of the consultation the employer shall, as soon as practicable, provide in writing to the employee/s concerned and, where relevant, their union or unions, all relevant information about the proposed terminations including the reasons for the proposed terminations, the number and categories of employees likely to be affected, the number of workers normally employed and the period over which the terminations are likely to be carried out.
- (d) Notwithstanding the provision of clause 2(c), an employer shall not be required to disclose confidential information, the disclosure of which would be adverse to the employer's interests.

3 Transfer to lower paid duties

- (a) Where an employee is transferred to lower paid duties by reason of redundancy the employee shall be entitled to the same period of notice of transfer as the employee would have been entitled to if the employee's employment had been terminated under the redundancy pay provisions of the Queensland Employment Standards in the Act.
- (b) The employer may, at the employer's option, make payment in lieu thereof of an amount equal to the difference between the former amounts the employer would have been liable to pay and the new lower amount the employer is liable to pay the employee for the number of weeks of notice still owing.
- (c) The amounts must be worked out on the basis of:
 - (i) the ordinary working hours to be worked by the employee;
 - (ii) the amounts payable to the employee for the hours including, for example, allowances, loadings and penalties; and
 - (iii) any other amounts payable under the employee's employment contract.

4 Employee leaving during notice

An employee given notice of termination in circumstances of redundancy may terminate their employment during the period of notice. The employee is entitled to receive the benefits and payments they would have received under this clause had they remained in employment until the expiry of the notice, but is not entitled to payment instead of notice.

5 Job search entitlement

- (a) An employee given notice of termination in circumstances of redundancy must be allowed up to one day's time off without loss of pay during each week of notice for the purpose of seeking other employment.
- (b) If the employee has been allowed paid leave for more than one day during the notice period for the purpose of seeking other employment the employee must, at the request of the employer, produce proof of attendance at an interview or the employee will not receive payment for the time absent. For this purpose a statutory declaration will be sufficient.
- (c) Clause 5 in the schedule applies instead of clause 18.2 in cases of redundancy.

6 Transmission of business

- (a) Where a business is, whether before or after the date of commencement of this Agreement, transmitted from the employer (transmittor) to another employer (transmittee), and an employee who at the time of such transmission was an employee of the transmittor of the business, becomes an employee of the transmittee:
 - (i) the continuity of the employment of the employee shall be deemed not to have been broken by reason of such transmission; and
 - (ii) the period of employment which the employee has had with the transmittor or any prior transmittor shall be deemed to be service of the employee with the transmittee.
- (b) In clauses 6 and 7, 'business' includes trade, process, business or occupation and includes a part or subsidiary (which means a corporation that would be taken to be a subsidiary under the Corporations Law, whether or not the Corporations Law applies in the particular case) of any such business and 'transmission' includes transfer, conveyance, assignment or succession whether by agreement or by operation of law and 'transmitted' has a corresponding meaning.

7 Exemption where transmission of business

The provisions of clause 6 are not applicable where a business is, before or after the date of commencement of this Agreement, transmitted from the employer (transmittor) to another employer (transmittee) in any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Where the employee accepts employment with the transmittee which recognises the period of continuous service which the employee had with the transmittor, and any prior transmittor, to be continuous service of the employee with the transmittee; or
- (b) Where the employee rejects an offer of employment with the transmittee:
 - (i) In which the terms and conditions are substantially similar and no less favourable, considered on an overall basis, than the terms and conditions applicable to the employee at the time of ceasing employment with the transmittor; and
 - (ii) Which recognises the period of continuous service which the employee had with the transmittor and any prior transmittor to be continuous service of the employee with the transmittee.

8 Alternative employment

The employer, in a particular case, may make application to the commission to have the general severance pay prescription amended if the employer obtains acceptable alternative employment for an employee.

- (b) To employees engaged for a specific period or task/s; or
- (c) To casual employees; or

- (d) To employees with less than one year's continuous service in which case the general obligation on employers should be no more than to give relevant employees an indication of the impending redundancy at the first reasonable opportunity, and to take such steps as may be reasonable to facilitate the obtaining by the employees of suitable alternative employment.
